"The Merchant of Venice" will be given Friday night, and at the Saturday matinee Irving appears in "Waterloo" and Miss Terry in "The Amber Heart" and at night Irving appears in "Waterloo" and "The Bells." The prices will be $3, $2.50, $2, $1 and 50 cents.

"THE LITTLE MINISTER."

There is not a more charming and chaste play now being presented than "The Little Minister." It is a dramatization of J. M. Barrie's famous novel, and is a play without a villain, without tears, without swords or pistols, and has a charm that makes it linger as a pleasant memory. The love story of "Lady Babbie" and the quaintly humorous characters of the village of Thrums—the twin charms of the book—are delightfully represented in the play.

"The Little Minister" will be presented by Mr. Charles Frohman's company of capable actors, which includes four members of the original cast, we are told. "The Little Minister" has played to large business since leaving New York, and the Grand will no doubt contain a large and fashionable audience to-night.

Miss Grace Heyer, who is said to be Mr. Frohman's youngest star, will play "Lady Babbie," and the other parts are well cast. Mr. Giles Shine, who was a Paris favorite before the Grand was built, is a member of the company.

Reserved seats are on sale at Boardman's. Persons who fail to see "The Little Minister" will miss the prettiest play of the season.

"KEEP TO THE RIGHT."

"Keep to the right," is the law of the road—Make it a law of your moral code; In whatever you determine to do Follow the road of the Good and the True; Follow and fear not; by day and by night, Up hill or down hill, "keep to the right."

Doubt will assail you, temptation will woo— "Keep to the right," for the right is the true; Doubt is a traitor, temptation a shame; A heart that is honest, a life without blame. Will rank you far higher, in worth and renown, Than the grandest of kings, with his scepter and crown.

"Keep to the right," in the journey of life, There is crowding and jostling, trouble and strife; The weak will succumb to the bold and the strong, And many go under and many go wrong; He will acquit himself best in the fight Who shrinks not his duty, and "keeps to the right."

"Keep to the right," and the Right will keep you In touch and accord with the Good and the True; These are the best things in life, after all, They make it worth living, whatever befall, And Death has no terrors, when he comes in sight, For the man who determines to "keep to the right."

—Charles W. Hubner, in Atlanta Constitution.

"Nita, if it were only for Mr. Latrobe I should not care a snap of my finger, but it's you—youth! I thought you had more sense. I thought you fully understood that you couldn't afford to lose yourself a moment, and yet if ever a girl looked like yielding you did this very afternoon. For my sake, Nita, don't let it go any further—don't fall in love—here—whatever you do."

The younger sister stood at the dressing-table at the moment, her face averted. The Mary Powell was just rounding the point, and the mellow, melodious notes of her bell were still echoing through the Highlands. Nita was gazing out upon the gorgeous effect of sunset light and shadow on the eastern cliffs and crags across the Hudson, a flush as vivid mantling her cheeks, her lips quivering. She was making valiant efforts to control herself before replying.

"I'm not in love with him," she finally said.

"Perhaps not—yet. Surely I hope not, but it looks awfully like it was coming—and Nita, you simply mustn't. You've got to marry money if I have to stand guard over you and see you do it—and you know you can this minute—if you'll only listen."

The younger girl wheeled sharply, her eyes flashing. "Peggy, you promised me I shouldn't hear that hateful thing again—at least not until we left here—and you've broken your word—twice. You—"

"It's because I must. I can't see you drifting—the way I did when, with things have come so terrible sudden like. This time yesterday I was living your youth and—advantages, you can pick and choose. Col. Frost has money and money all over the west, and he was your shadow at the seashore, and all broken up; he told me so when we came here. Paddy Latrobe is a beautiful boy without a penny—"

"His uncle," began Nita, feebly.

"His uncle had a sister to support besides Paddy's mother. His pay as brigadier in the regular service is only $5,500. He can't have saved much of anything in the past, and he may last a dozen years yet—or more. Even if he does leave everything then to Latrobe, what'll you do meantime? Don't be a fool, Nita, because I was. I had to be. It was that or nothing, and father was getting tired. You heard how he talked."

The younger sister was still at the dressing-table, diligently brushing her shining, curly tresses. She had regained her composure and took occasional furtive peeps at Mrs. Frank, now seated at the foot of the bed, busy with a buttonhook and the adjustment of a pair of very dainty boots of white kid, whose buttons gleamed like pearls. The mates to them, half a size smaller, peeped from the tray of Nita's new trunk.

There came a footstep and a rap at the door. "See what it is, Nita, there's a love—I don't want to hop."

"It was a car—a new arrival at the hotel."

"Gentleman said he'd wait in the parlor, m," said the bellboy, and vanished. Nita glanced at the card and instantly trouble stood in her paling face. Silently Mrs. Garrison held out her hand, took the card, and one quick look. The buttonhook dropped from her relaxed fingers. The card read: "Mr. Gouverneur Prime."

For a second or two the sisters gazed at each other in silence.

At last the elder spoke. "In heaven's name, what brings that absurd boy back here? I thought him safe in Europe."

CHAPTER IX.

One of the most charming writers of our day and generation has declared that "the truest blessing a girl can have" is "the ingenuous devotion of a young boy's heart." Nine mothers in ten will probably take issue with the gifted author on that point, and though no longer a young girl in years, Margaret nevertheless might be in looks, Margaret

Garrison would gladly have sent the waiting gentlemen to the right about, for, though he was only 20, "Gov" Prime, as a junior at Columbia, had been ingenuously devoted to the little lady from the very first evening he saw her. A boy of frank, impulsive nature, was "Gov"—a boy still in spite of the budding mustache, the 20 summers and the barely passed "exam" that wound up the junior year and entitled him to sit with the seniors when the great university opened its doors in October. Studies he hated, but tennis, polo, cricket, riding and dancing were things he loved and excelled in. Much of his boyhood had been spent at one of those healthy, hearty English schools where all that would cultivate physical and mental manhood was assiduously practiced, and all that would militate against them was as rigorously "tabooed."

At the coming of his twentieth birthday that summer his father had handed him his check of $5,000—the paternal expression of satisfaction that his boy had never smoked pipe, cigar or cigarette—and the same week "Gov" had carried off the blue ribbon with the racquet, and the second prize with the single sculls. It was during the "exams," the first week in June, when, dropping in for five o'clock tea of some girls whom he had known for years, he was presented to this wretched little creature whose name he didn't even "catch." "We met her way out at an army post in Wyoming when papa took us to California last year," was whispered to him, "and they entertained us so cordially, and of course we said if ever you come to New York you must be sure to let us know—and she did—but—"

and there his informant paused, dubious. Other callers came in and it began to rain—a sudden, drenching shower, and the little stranger from the far west saw plainly enough that her hostesses, though presenting their friends after our cheery American fashion, were unable to show her further attention, and the newly presented—almost all women, said "so very pleased" but failed to look it, or otherwise to manifest their pleasure. She couldn't go in the rain. The butler had "phoned for a cab. She wouldn't sit there alone and neglected. She deliberately signaled Mr. Prime. "The ladies are all busy," she said, with a charmingly appealing smile, "but I know you can tell me. I have to dress for dinner after I get home, and must be at One Hundred and Tenth street at 7:30. How long will it take a carriage to drive me there? Oh, is that your society pin? Why, are you still in college? Why, I thought—"

That cab was 25 minutes coming, and when it came Mr. Prime went with it and her, whom he had not left an instant from the moment of her question. Moreover, he discovered she was nervous about taking that carriage drive all alone away up to One Hundred and Tenth street, yet what other way could a girl go in evening dress? He left her at her door with a reluctantly given permission to return in an hour and escort her to the distant home of her friends and entertainers. He drove to the Waldorf and had a light dinner with a half pint of Hook, devoured her with his eyes as they drove rapidly northward, went to a Harlem theater while she dined and forgot him, and was at the carriage door when she came forth to be driven home. Seven hours or less "had done the business" so far as Gouverneur Prime was concerned.

It was the boy's first wild infatuation—as mad, unreasoning, absurd, yet intense as was ever that of Arthur Pen-dennis for the lovely Fotheringay. Margaret Garrison had never seen or known the like of it. She had fascinated others for a time, had kindled love, passion and temporary devotion, but this—this was worship, and it was something so sweet to her jaded senses, something so rich and spontaneous that she gave herself up for a day or two to the delight of studying it. Here was a glorious young athlete whose eyes followed her every move and gesture, who hung about her in utter captivation, whose voice trembled and whose eyes implored, yet whose strong, brown, shapely hand never dared so much as touch hers, except when she extended it in greeting. He was to accompany his father and sister to Europe in a week, so what harm was there? He would forget all about it. He knew now she was married. He was presented to Nita, but had hardly a word and never a look for her when Margaret was near. He was dumb and miserable all the day they drove in the park and later dined at Delmonico's with Col. Frost. He was sick, even when mounted on his favorite English thoroughbred and scampering about the bridge path for peeps at the drives, when she was at the park again with that gray-haired reprobate, that money shark, Cashton—a Wall street broker black-balled at every decent club in New York. Why should she go with him? He had been most kind, she said, in the advice and aid he had given her in the investment of her little fortune. She told the lie with downcast eyes and cheeks that burned, for most of that little fortune was already frittered away, and Cashton's reports seemed to require many personal visits that had set tongues wagging at the hotels, so much frequented of the army; where she had taken a room until Nita should have been graduated and they could go to the seashore. She had promised to be at home to her boy adorer that very evening and to go with him to Daly's, and he had secured the seats four days ahead. Poor "Gov" had trotted swiftly home from the park, striving to comfort himself over his bath and irreproachable evening clothes that there, with her by his side, the wild jealousy of the day would vanish. Sharply on time he had sent up his card and listened, incredulous, to the reply: "Mrs. Garrison has not yet returned." He would wait, he said, and did wait, biting his nails, treading the floor, fuming in doubt and despair until nearly ten, when a carriage dashed up to the ladies' entrance and that vile Cashton handed her out, escorted her in and vanished. She came hurrying to her boy lover with both little hands outstretched, with a face deeply flushed and words of pleading and distress rushing from her lips. "Indeed, I could not help it, Gov," she cried. "I told him of my engagement and said we must not go so far, but away at the north end something happened, I don't know what, a wheel was bent, and the harness wrenched by too short a turn on a stone post at a corner. Something had to be repaired. They said it wouldn't take ten minutes, and he led me out and up to the piazza of that big hotel—you know, we saw it the day I drove with you—"

"He was a blackguard to take you there!" burst in Prime, the blood boiling in his veins. "Then we waited and waited and he went to hurry them, and then he came back and said they had found more serious damages—that it would take an hour, and meantime dinner had been ordered and was served. He had telephoned to you and the butler had answered all right."

"He's a double-dyed liar!" raved "Gov," furiously.

"And so what could I do, Gov? The dinner was delicious, but I couldn't eat a mouthful. (This time it wasn't Cash-ton who lied.) I was worrying about you, and—and—about myself, too. 'Gov,' it had set my heart on going with you. It was to be almost our last evening. Oh, if you only didn't have to sail Saturday, and could be here next week, you dear boy, you should have no cause for complaint. Won't you try to forgive me?"

And, actually, tears stood in her eyes, as again she held out both hands. They were the only people in the parlor, and in an instant, with quick, sudden, irresistible action, he had clasped and drawn her to his breast, and though she hid her face and struggled, passionate kisses were printed on her disheveled hair. It was the first time he had dared.

And then he did not sail Saturday. Prime, Sr., was held by most important business. They gave up the Saturday Canard and took the midweek White Star, and those four additional days riveted poor "Gov's" chains and left her well-nigh breathless with excitement. The strain had been intense. It was all she could do to make the boy try to behave in a rational way in the presence of others. When alone with her he raved. A fearful load was lifted from her spare little shoulders when the Teutonic sailed. Even Nita had worried and had seen her sister's worry. Then no sooner did "Gov" reach Europe than he began writing impassioned letters by every steamer, but that wasn't so bad. She had several magazine correspondents, some of whom wrote as often as Frank, but none of whom, to do her justice, got letters as often as he did, which, however, was saying little, for she hated writing. "Gov" was to have stayed abroad three months, piloting the pater and sister about the scenes so familiar to him, but they saw how nervous and unhappy he was. They knew he was writing constantly to some one, Mildred had long since divined that there was a girl at the bottom of it all, and longed and strove to find out who she was. Through the last of June and all through July he resolutely stood to his promise and did his best to be loving and brotherly to a loving and devoted sister and dutiful to a most indulgent father. But he grew white and worn and haggard, he who had been such a picture of rugged health, and, in her utter innocence and ignorance as to the being on whom her brother had lavished the wealth of his love, Mildred began to ask herself should she not urge her father to let "Gov" return to America. At last one sweet July evening, late in the month, the brother and sister were wandering along the lovely shore of Lucerne. He had been unusually fitful, restless and moody all day. No letter had reached him in over a fortnight, and he was miserably unhappy. They stopped at a grassy bank that ran down to the rippling water's edge, and she seated herself on a stone ledge, while in reckless abandonment he threw himself at full length on the dewy grass. Instantly the last doubt vanished. Bending over him, her soft hand caressing his hair, she whispered: "Gov, dear boy, is it so very hard? Would you like to go to her at once?"

And the boy buried his face in her lap, twined his arms about her slender waist, and almost groaned aloud as he answered: "For pity's sake help me if you can, Mildred, I'm almost mad." Early in August the swiftest steamer of the line was splitting the Atlantic surge and driving hard for home, with "Gov" cursing her for a canal boat. The day after he reached New York he had traced and followed the White Sisters to West Point, and Margaret Garrison stared in mingled delight, triumph and dismay at the card in her hand; delight that she could show these exclusive Pointers that the heir to one of the oldest and best names in Gotham's Four Hundred was a slave to her beck and call, dismayed to think of the scene that might occur through his jealousy when he saw the devoted attentions she received from so many men—officers, civilians and cadets. Old Cashton came up now as regularly as Saturday night came around, and there were others. Margaret Garrison was more talked about than any woman in Orange county, yet who could report anything of her beyond that she was a universal favorite, and danced, walked, possibly flirted with a dozen different cavaliers every day of her life. There were some few people among her accusers, demure and most proper—even prudish—women, of whom, were the truth to be told, so little could not be said.

"Gov" Prime took the only kind of room to be had in the house, so full was it—a little seven by ten box on the office floor. He would have slept in the colonnades rather than leave her. He saw her go off to the hop looking radiant, glancing back over her shoulder and smiling sweetly at him. He rushed to his trunk, dragged out his evening clothes and stood at the wall looking on until the last note of the last dance—he, a noted German leader in the younger set and the best dancer of his years in Gotham. Not so much as a single spin had he, and he longed to show those tight-waisted, button-betwisted fellows in gray and white how little they really knew about dancing, well as many of them appeared on the floor. His reward was tendered as the hop broke up. She came gliding to him with such witchery in her upraised face. "Now, sir, it is your turn. I couldn't give you a dance, for my card was made out days ago, but Mr. Latrobe was glad enough to get rid of taking me home. He is daft about Nita, and of course she can't let him take her to more than one hop a week. Mr. Stanton is her escort to-night."

Then she placed her little hand on his arm, and drew herself to his side, and when he would have followed the others, going straight across the broad plain to the lights at the hotel, turned him to the left. "I'm going to take you all the way round, sir," she said, joyously. "Then we can be by ourselves at least ten minutes longer."

KISSED BY THE QUEEN.

Reminiscence of a Bugler Who Was Once Granted Distinguished Consideration.

"To be Knight of the Thistle is a big honor, of course," remarked an old quartermaster sergeant, amidst a discussion among some military men at Chatham, "but I can claim a distinction lots in front of that, or of kissing hands with the queen, as they say of the custom observed by cabinet ministers when taking over the seals of office."

"You're chucking it, mon," observed a stalwart sergeant frae the far north. "Well," the veteran non-com went on to explain, "the good fortune which befell me was to be kissed by the queen; an intimation which caused the little party to gather round yet closer."

"You're having us, Jock," observed a credulous corporal, "and if you want the hatchet say so, for the present holder is fair outclassed."

"No," the distinguished soldier, as he claimed to be, contended, "it is you that's out of it, as you will see. You may have heard of my being the youngest bugler that took part in the Crimea, and such fact secured for me a place among the survivors who were inspected by the queen after peace was proclaimed."

"When the wounded went by, some in chairs—"

"Quite so. Well, I was then a little flaxen-haired, red-cheeked youngster, small for my age, and I suppose contrasted a good deal with the worn veterans. When my turn came to pass her majesty asked how old I was, and on replying a little over 13, at the same time giving quite the best salute possible, the queen said: 'Dear little fellow,' and then gave me a kiss on the cheek. So you see how I came to receive a gracious distinction which from generals downward no other soldier has ever been able to lay claim to. That honor's mine alone."—Pearson's Weekly.

A Necessity.

A physician, returning from his daily rounds of visits, overheard two colored citizens conversing as they plodded homeward from their work.

"Is you gwine ter prayer meetin' dis evenin', Jim?" asked one of the pedestrians.

"Yas, indeed! I is dat. Is you?" replied the other.

"You bet I is!" said the first. "I tell you, I considers religion one uv de necessary ebils!"—Memphis Scimitar.

Soldiers and Capitalists.

Records of the war department show that the whole amount paid by the government for its soldiery for all purposes, including bounty, commutations and pensions, since 1861 to June 30, 1899, is $2,658,000,000. Treasury records show that the whole amount paid to the creditors and bondholders since 1861 to June 30, 1899, was $5,768,000,000, or more than twice as much.—Chicago Chronicle.

Terrible Ordeal.

"If you'd been half an hour later," she said, "I don't know what I should have done."

"What happened?" he asked.

"Why, Mrs. Gadding, next door, has been in here with such an extraordinary tale, which she made me promise I would never breathe to a living soul, that it has seemed as if I positively couldn't wait for you to come home to tell you about it."—Tit-Bits.

Ordained.

"There is no reason why a politician should not be honest."

"No; it's just one of those things that happens. There is no particular reason why grass shouldn't be black, but it's green, just the same."—Philadelphia North American.

MAY BE STORY OF THE MAINE.

Spanish Cipher Cablegram Found by an American Soldier in Manila.

"Blue tape" is the expression which might properly be applied to Spanish official circumlocution. C. Leland, a young man from Bismarck, N. D., came to Chicago a few days ago to join a regiment which he had heard was being recruited there for service in the Boer army. He carried a little bundle of blue paper which might reveal the secret of the Maine explosion in Havana harbor if the writing on it could be read. It purports to be a dispatch in cipher from a Spanish official in Havana to Gov. Gen. Augusti at Manila. It is dated February 18, 1898, and written in Spanish cipher code on a narrow ribbon of light blue paper, about 100 feet long. The paper is wound in a circular coil and makes a bunch six inches in diameter. There is nothing on the paper to establish its genuineness, says the Inter Ocean.

Young Leland got it from Charles Jackson, a soldier in a South Dakota regiment that served in the Philippines. When the American army took possession at Manila this paper, with a great many other official documents, it is said, was found in a safe in the governor general's office. Gen. Otis ordered them all burned, but Jackson rescued the cipher cablegram from the pile as a souvenir. He was killed soon afterward, but previous to that had mailed the paper to Leland.

A SUCCESSFUL FARMER.

Within three miles of the town going eastward is the farm of Mr. W. Creamer, one of the municipality's largest and most prosperous mixed farmers. Mr. Creamer came to this country in 1880 and settled on a portion of the land which comprises his present enormous farm of 1,280 acres. In common with many others of a similar period he experienced all the hardships and difficulties common to the absence of railway and market facilities. In no wise daunted, by energy, industry and indomitable will he has been able to surmount all obstacles and has achieved an unparalleled success, and is known throughout the district as one of its preeminent farmers. His operations extend over 1,280 acres, two sections (the thought alone of so much land makes the eastern farmer dizzy); 800 acres of this is broken and the remainder is excellent pasture land and wood. This harvest he took off a crop of 500 acres of wheat and 200 of other grains. Four hundred acres are plowed and ready for wheat next spring. Mr. Creamer is, as has been stated, a mixed farmer of no mean proportions, having at the present time 40 horses, 60 head of cattle and 50 pigs. The most modern farm buildings are found on his premises, the main building being a barn 55 feet square on a stone foundation containing stabling for 16 horses and a large number of cattle. The loft is stored with 20 loads of sheaf oats for feed and tons of hay; there is also a cutting box. Another building of large dimensions is the granary, in which after teaming large quantities to market he still has stored 3,000 bushels of wheat. A crushing machine is in the building. There are a number of lesser buildings containing chicken house, pig pens and cattle sheds. The farm residence is a handsome frame structure of ample proportions, in connection with it is a wood shed. The water supply is unexcelled; besides house supply there is a well in the stables and a never failing spring situate in a bluff, which never freezes. Surrounded by a thick bluff of poplars, extending in a semi circle to the west, north and east, the winter storms are broken and accumulation of snow unknown. Added to his farming operations, Mr. Creamer conducts a threshing outfit for the season. His success is only one instance of what can be accomplished in Western Canada.—Baldur (Man.) Gazette, Nov. 16th, 1899.

Thousands are going to Western Canada this year to take advantage of the free homestead laws that are being offered by the government.

AMERICAN ENTERPRISE.

The pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Pine Bluff, Ark., was telling his congregation of his travels in the Holy Land, and closed his remarks with this incident, illustrating American enterprise: "When at 'Jacob's Well' he drew therefrom with his own hands a bucket of water; after doing so and looking at the tin bucket, he found it was a lard bucket with the name of 'Swift and Company' branded on same, which was the same as he had seen in Pine Bluff many times."—Kansas City Gazette.

Spring Annually Says Take Hood's Sarsaparilla

In the spring those Pimples, Boils, Eruptions and General Bad Feelings indicate that there are cobwebs in the system. It needs a thorough brushing, and the best brush is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which sweeps all humors before it. This great medicine eradicates Scrofula, subdues Salt Rheum, neutralizes the acidity which causes Rheumatism—in short, purifies the blood and thoroughly renovates the whole physical system.

"We have used Hood's Sarsaparilla and it has given the best of satisfaction, especially as a spring medicine. It builds up the general system and gives new life." DWIGHT C. PARK, Whiteland, Indiana.

ENTIRELY DESTROYED.

The Democratic Convention Hall at Kansas City Burned.

Orders for the Material Have Been Placed, and the New Building Will Be Ready for the National Democratic Convention.

Kansas City, April 5.—Convention hall, the mammoth and superb auditorium in which the democratic convention was to have been held on July, was burned to the ground in less than half an hour's time by fire that started in the building at 1:10 p. m. Wednesday.

Within a few minutes after the fire caught, the whole structure, taking in half a block each way on Thirteenth and Central streets, was a mass of flames, and twenty minutes after the first alarm was turned in the roof fell in with a crash, throwing showers of burning embers in every direction. The fire started over the furnace-room in the rear end of the building. A still alarm was turned in, and before the first engines arrived the fire had gotten beyond control. Within twenty minutes every department in the city was at the scene, but the work of the firemen proved of no avail, and efforts were soon directed to saving the surrounding property.

At 1:30 the fire jumped two ways, attacking a half block of three-story residences in the rear of the hall on 12th street and across Central street, where it first caught the Second Presbyterian church, one of the finest edifices in the city, and then the Lathrop public school, which was partially destroyed by a tornado in 1888.

The residences on 12th street, together with the church and school will undoubtedly be a total loss, and the indications were that the fire will spread further west into a densely populated residence district, and north of the hall, where some of the finest residences in the city are located.

At 2 o'clock the wind had driven the flames north and west from the hall, and the efforts of the firemen to save the fine residence property to the east on Wyandotte street had proved successful.

The Presbyterian church, which was a brick structure of old style, is a total loss. The building burned fiercely and was a ruin 20 minutes after it caught. The immense steeple fell with crash, and scattered flames in all directions. The Lathrop school, a three-story, 13-room structure, situated just north of the church, was also quickly leveled, and is a total loss. The row of 12th street residences will be a complete loss.

All efforts were then directed toward preventing the flames from reaching west and north. One building a block west of the hall caught fire repeatedly from flying brands, but was extinguished. It is now believed that fire will be confined to the structures named.

The aggregate loss is $400,000, apportioned as follows: Convention hall, $250,000, insurance, $155,000; church, $50,000, insured; parsonage, $15,000, insured; school, $55,000; insurance, $24,000; Williamson block, Twelfth street, $60,000, insurance, $45,000.

Fifteen minutes after the hall was known to be doomed, members of the Commercial club, through whose efforts the structure was built, began soliciting funds to begin a new building, which, it is stated, will be started as soon as the ruins can be cleared away.

JUDGE TAFT DEPARTS.

The President of the Philippine Commission Receives His Final Instructions.

Washington, April 5.—Judge Taft, president of the Philippine commission, had a long conference with Secretary Root at the war department and received the final instructions to the committee. Judge Taft then left the city in order to complete some business in Chicago in time to accompany the other members of the commission from San Francisco on the transport Hancock on the 15th instant.

In case it becomes necessary to modify or add to the instructions to the committee, such changes will be forwarded by mail or telegraph if necessary to Judge Taft at San Francisco. Secretary Root says that the instructions will not be made public until they have been finally submitted to the commission in complete form.

DEWEY FOR PRESIDENT.

The Admiral Announces That He is Willing to Be a Candidate For That Important Position.

Washington, April 5.—Admiral George Dewey Wednesday morning confirmed the interview published Wednesday morning in the New York World to the effect that he will accept the presidency of the United States should the American people desire him to fill that office. He refused to make any further statement.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 5.—A special from Washington Wednesday says:

In an interview with a correspondent Admiral Dewey confirmed the report that he is willing to be a candidate for the presidency. He says he will accept the nomination if it is tendered him.

"It was after the most serious consideration that I decided to make a formal announcement of my position," said the admiral. "I have been strongly urged to do so by a great many friends. They were friends upon whose judgment I believed I could rely, and whose good intentions I would not doubt. They said they believed I owed it to the American people to make my position clear on this matter. My name has been used in this connection and there have been all kinds of reports. My friends thought I owe it to the people to set all doubt at rest by declaring that I adhered to my original refusal, or that I had changed my mind. So I decided to speak. My position is just this: I regard the position of President as the greatest honor in the gift of the nation. It is an honor to which no man can be indifferent. I am simply like other citizens in that I would appreciate the honor."

Asked as to his platform and what party he would stand with the admiral says:

"That is a matter for later consideration. At present I have simply signified my willingness to be a candidate. It is possible the people will not see it in that way. There will be time enough to discuss features connected with my candidacy when I am a candidate."

Adm. Dewey declined to state whether he was a democrat or a republican.

PRINCE OF WALES.

As the Train Was Leaving the Depot in Brussels an Individual Fired at Him But Missed.

London, April 5.—The Prince and Princess of Wales started for Copenhagen Wednesday morning for the purpose of attending the celebration of King Christian's birthday, which occurs April 8.

Brussels, April 5.—As the train was leaving the Northern station for the Southern railroad station, an individual fired a revolver at the prince of Wales, but missed his royal highness.

The attempt upon the life of the prince of Wales occurred at 3:35 p. m. The would-be assassin jumped upon the footboard of the prince's saloon car as the train was starting and fired into the car, aiming at the prince of Wales. The man was immediately arrested.

Brussels, April 5.—The man who tried to assassinate the prince of Wales by firing two shots at him as he was leaving the railway station here is a tinsmith named Spido, a resident of Brussels and 16 years old. His pockets were found to be full of anarchist literature. After his arrest he said he wanted to kill the prince of Wales "because he caused thousands of men to be slaughtered in South Africa."

VICTORIA WELL PLEASED.

Dublin Went Wild With Delight Over the Visit of the Queen to Their City.

Dublin, April 5.—Queen Victoria landed in Ireland Wednesday morning for the first time in 39 years. The disembarkation from the royal yacht was accomplished at 11:20. The commander of the forces in Ireland, the Duke of Connaught, the Lord Lieut., Earl Cadogan, and their staffs, greeted her majesty and the ride from Kings-town to Dublin commenced in splendid weather and before huge and good natured crowds.

Dublin, April 5.—No sooner had Queen Victoria arrived at the viceregal lodge and lunched than she drove out again in Phoenix Park, being much cheered. It is understood that she expressed herself as wonderfully pleased with the reception and as having suffered no fatigue.

Dublin went wild with delight over the excellence with which all the arrangements were carried out. Not one black flag or disloyal motto marked the line of march and the popular enthusiasm buried all political feeling for the time.

BURGHERS AGGRESSIVE

The British Force at Bloemfontein Surrounded by the Enemy.

Mafeking Is Still Being Bombarded, but Safe Up to March 27—Ninety British Prisoners Recaptured—The Latest War News.

London, April 5.—It looks as though the Boers had conceived the audacious plan of attempting to invest Lord Roberts at Bloemfontein, or at least to endeavor to delay his northward advance by harassing the British lines of communication.

On his side Lord Roberts is concentrating his forces and preparing to take every advantage of the bold but risky tactics of the enemy. He is not likely to strike at any of their forces until he is certain of delivering a crushing blow.

The situation in the absence of any official dispatch from Lord Roberts is both mystifying and interesting. There is little doubt that Lord Roberts is hampered by the necessity for remounts and transport and the loss of convoy guns and all of Col. Broadwood's baggage was a serious matter.

The Boers are now trusting to what they believe to be their superior mobility.

The special correspondents at the front are now denouncing Lord Roberts' policy of leniency toward the Free Staters and are calling for an abandonment of that policy.

A special dispatch announces that Mafeking was still besieged but safe on March 27.

Bloemfontein, April 5.—There are numerous indications that, in pursuance of their boast that they will recapture Bloemfontein, the Boers are trying to surround the town and to cut our line of communications to the south. Large forces are reported east and south, which are supposed to be making for the railway. They still hold Thaba N'chu and the water works.

Lord Roberts is completing his concentration. Four 4.7 guns and four naval 12-pounders have been mounted on kopjes commanding the plain. The cavalry camp has been removed to a better position northeast of the city. Special precautions are being taken to protect the railway southward.

London, April 5.—The war office reports that Col. Broadwood lost seven guns and all his baggage in the ambush laid for him by the Boers on Saturday. The casualties numbered 350.

London, April 4.—Fuller news of disaster to the British army in the neighborhood of Sannas Post does not tend to improve matters from a British point of view, but, with the dispatches so mystifying, it is impossible to accurately portray the present situation or to foretell the ultimate issue of Lord Roberts' attempt to retrieve the defeat.

The war office has posted a dispatch from Lord Roberts reading as follows:

Bloemfontein, April 2, 10:30 p. m.—In continuation of my telegram of March 31, there has been considerable delay in getting accurate returns of the casualties, as the action took place twenty-two miles hence, the telegraph cable has been interrupted several times, cloudy weather has interfered with signalling, and although there has been no engagement since, the force is continually in touch with the enemy.

There were many acts of conspicuous gallantry displayed during the day. "Q" remained in action under a cross fire at 1,200 yards for some hours, the officers serving the guns as the casualties reduced the detachments. Several gallant attempts were made to bring in two guns, the teams of which had been killed, but at each attempt the horses were shot.

The Essex, Munster, Shropshire and Northumberland mounted infantry and Roberts' horse covered the retirement of the guns from that position to the crossing of the drift found by the cavalry two miles further south and withstood the determined attacks of the enemy, who, in some cases, advanced within one hundred yards. "U" battery of the Royal Horse Artillery was suddenly surrounded in the drift and the officers and men were made prisoners without a shot being fired.

Bloemfontein, Monday, April 2.—Gen. Colville's division and French's cavalry have returned here. Everything is quiet.

London, April 5.—Gen. Colville and Gen. French have given up the movement against the Boers east of Bloemfontein, and have rejoined the main army. It doubtless seemed to Lord Roberts a vain thing to send from ten to twelve thousand of his best troops into the wilderness, with a field transport, in the direction at a right angle with his chosen line of advance. The Boers have probably moved elsewhere, and if to the south-west, Gen. Colville could as easily strike them from Bloemfontein as by following them across the plains.

Prominent Banker Dead.

New York, April 4.—Walter Watson, for 20 years the New York manager of the Bank of Montreal, and several times president of the St. Andrew's society, of this city, died here, after an illness of one week, of bronchial pneumonia, aged 70 years.

Tribute to Bourbon County.

Col. Breckinridge paid the following editorial tribute to Bourbon county in connection with the sketch of Paris and Bourbon, which appeared in the Lexington Herald last Sunday.

"In this issue is published the first of a series of articles in relation to the towns in the surrounding counties, this being some account of our neighboring city of Paris. We have sincere affection, as well as real admiration for Bourbon county and her people. Bourbon county is the richest agricultural county in the state; there is less waste land and more fertile land within her borders than in any other county. She is one of the older counties. The name she bears is a memorial of the gratitude felt to Louis XVI, and Paris also was named for the same. Her fertile lands and exquisite beauty attracted the early settlers, among them were Revolutionary veterans who brought with them their slaves and made new homes. Immediately after the close of the Revolutionary war Kentucky received some thousands of these soldiers who had land warrants for their services, and the Blue Grass counties were selected by the majority of these emigrants as their new homes. They were a superb race of men, and were wonderfully trained by the events just preceding and by the events of the war. They were far more than mere soldiers; they were thoughtful, conservative intelligent, brave citizens. Never did a state have a nobler body of pioneers and founders.

The early history of Kentucky is far more valuable as a study in statesmanship and political science than as a thrilling romance. Bourbon obtained more than a fair share of these veterans; and as they founded schools, built churches, established courts of justice, constructed an orderly, law-abiding and stable community, they attracted other immigrants of like qualities. So that for more than a century this has been one of the most influential counties of Kentucky. Such men make a rich, prosperous and thrifty community. Such men and women build good homes, make good roads, have good stables, breed good stock; lay out good gardens, beautify their homes with flowers and trees, and adorn them with comfortable furniture, excellent pictures and many books. They educate their children and cultivate good manners and pleasant intercourse. Honesty, fair dealing, skill and intelligence produce the inevitable result. There is no county in Kentucky with a better—if as many—attractive country homes; with as many comfortable carriages and handsome horses; none where ordinary intercourse is more cordial, courteous and gracious; none where the hospitality is more abundant, generous and delightful.

During all these years she has had among her citizens some of the leading men of the State; Judges, Senators, Representatives; citizens of wealth, of liberality and influence; and she has sent to other counties and states numerous sons who have made her honorable and beloved.

She has been an independent community; her people do their own thinking and their own voting. When there is war her sons volunteer with alacrity; and are the full equals of the best and bravest; there is hardly a battle field west of the Alleghenies where her blood was not shed for country and right. She loves strongly; she is not implacable in her hates. Sometimes her prejudices are high, but her sense of justice is also high. Her people are not angels or saints, some of them know the value of a stake and some have a profuse and abundant English vocabulary. They are flesh and blood; men and women who are natural, earnest, with the faults and virtues of a virile and intense race; stalwart, handsome, veracious, courageous, reliable; loyal to friend and conviction; true to themselves and their word.

We know them well; we have practiced in her courts; we have been comrades in war with her sons we have felt her friendship when we needed friends; we have crossed swords with some of her sons; we know her traditions; we have studied her past; we have heard some of her statesmen; we have delighted our eyes upon her exquisite and fertile landscapes. And on this April Sunday—very dear in our home on account of loving and precious associations—we lift our hat to Bourbon County and her thriving little city, and to her people, and pray God to bless them in basket and store; in home and heart.

GLUTEN FEED

For cattle, sheep and mules. This highly recommended feed contains twice as much fat and muscle forming material, pound for pound, as corn or bran. (See the Agricultural Experiment Station.)

This feed is bulky and is the very thing to feed with shelled corn to prevent stock from eating corn too fast. We will sell it much cheaper than corn will cost. Put up in long sacks, 120 lbs. to a sack. Several cattle and mules feeders in this county are using this feed and are highly pleased with it.

 Island. It will carry passengers back

"The Admiral" is a handsome pleasure craft, finished in hard wood, with rods, and carries two flags. The launch is universally admired and will leap at once into public favor. Boating parties are already being planned for trips to Maple Island.

A Complimentary Shoot.

The Blue Grass Gun Club gave a very successful complimentary at the club grounds Wednesday in honor of Mr. Ralph Trimble, of Covington, who was the guest of the club. Mr. Trimble is the champion target shot of Kentucky.

About thirty persons took part in the the shoot and the sport was witnessed by about two hundred people. The best scores were made by T. H. Clay, Jr., who broke 93 out of 100 targets, J. Q.
 Ward 92, Mr. Trimble 91 and C. R.
 James 85 out of 100 targets. About 2,300 targets were broken during the day.

Fiscal Court Meeting.

The Bourbon Fiscal Court met yesterday with Judge Purnell and Justices J.
 W. Thomas, Jr., A. C. Ball, P. S. See,
 H. C. Smith, J. B. DeJarnett, S. L.
 Weathers, J. T. Barlow and John Howard present.

The court compromised the litigation over the taxes due from the Paris banks for the years 1897, 1898 and 1899 on the basis of seventy-five per cent. of the franchise taxes against each bank.
 The suits against the banks are to be dismissed and the banks are to waive all claims for taxes collected in 1898 and 1894. The court was unanimous in its vote. It was ordered that the North Middletown Deposit Bank, Millersburg
 Deposit Bank and Geo. Alexander & Co. be refunded the amount paid by them over seventy-five per cent. on $100 for taxes on franchise for years 1897, 1898 and 1899.

The committee on pest house was ordered to find a suitable site and build a house at once.

The usual claims and salaries were allowed, and the Treasurer's report accepted.

Noah Kendall was allowed $25 for care of a waif for fourteen days.

Judge Purnell and County Attorney Dandon were appointed a committee to confer with other counties in regard to legislation about hauling heavy loads on turnpikes.

Ordered that Bourbon county subscribe $1,000 per mile for Ward & McNeen's road from Clay & Kiser pike to Townsend Valley pike and $1,000 per mile for George Aoney pike and $1,000 per mile for the Edward Wade dirt road, payable when the subscription to each of said pikes is enough and collected to complete said pikes free from debt
 as to Bourbon county.

Dr. Hugh Clendenin.

The many friends of Hugh Clendenin will be glad to learn that he graduated at Louisville with the highest honors of his class at the Southwestern Homeopathic Medical College. Dr. Clendenin was valedictorian of the class and delivered an appropriate address. He was appointed interne at the college hospital and has assumed his duties.

Dr. Clendenin is a son of Mr. Chas.
 Clendenin, of this city, and is a model young man, worthy of the success he has won.

Mr. Bryan's Western Trip.

William J. Bryan made three speeches
 Tuesday, one at Olympia in the morning, and two at Tacoma. In the afternoon he addressed 8,000 people in the new Wigwam, and in the evening the building, with a capacity of 10,000, was packed. He left that night for Oregon.

Mr. Bryan is almost worn out by his recent canvass of the State. When seen at the conclusion of his night speech he could hardly articulate. His theme throughout the State has been anti-expansion and anti-trust, a brief reference to silver and a plea for the income tax.

We are prepared to paint buggies, carriages, etc., in first class style, at reasonable prices.

In the Borough of Queens Sweep-eyesight is failing and should have immediate attention:

Imperial spectacles and eyeglasses have perfect lenses, always perfectly centred and made of purest material, set in frames of the highest elasticity and consequently of greatest durability, united with the utmost lightness and elegance. When both frames and lenses are scientifically fitted by Dr. C. H. Bowen's system they always give satisfaction for they are perfect. Never buy cheap spectacles, nor of men who do not know how to fit them.
 You will get poorly adjusted spectacles, or poor, imperfect lenses, and are better off without any glasses than with either of these defects. Buy Imperial spectacles of a reliable, skillful dealer, and they will last longer without change and be cheapest in the end.

We have engaged the services of Dr. C. H. Bowen who will visit our store on the second and last Thursdays of each month and invite all to call and have their eyes examined, for which there is no charge. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Next visit—Thursday, April 12, 1900. Hello, 170.

GOVERNORSHIP CASE.

A Decision Expected From the Court of Appeals in a Few Days.

A Requisition From Gov. Mount, of Indiana, is Held Up by Democratic Gov. J. C. W. Beckham, of Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky., April 3.—The April term of the Frankfort circuit court, and the grand jury working under it which will investigate the assassination of Wm. Goebel, began work. The court did not convene till 2 o'clock and the original panel drawn for grand jurors was exhausted before the required number qualified to serve was secured.

The Franklin county grand jury for the April term which will investigate the assassination of Wm. Goebel was announced Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It is composed of the following: Frank Stagg (R.), Geo. Brock (D.), Wm. Grah (D.), Lewellyn Gaines (D.), W. B. George (R.), E. M. Featherstone (Anti-Goebel Dem.), Robert Sutter (D.), Chas. Bridgford (Pop.), Geo. Bernback (D.), John Reis (D.), Bird Carter (D.), D. S. Cain (D.).

Judge Cantrill's charge to the grand jury was surprisingly brief and devoid of any thing of a sensational nature. He said in substance: "You know the horrible situation in this county better than I can depict it. I hope and believe this grand jury, realizing the responsibility resting upon it, will discharge its entire duty fearlessly, fairly and impartially, and if it does no man or set of men can lay complaint at your door when your labors terminate. The officers of the court and the commonwealth's attorney will gladly render you any assistance you may need from them. Under the law you are entitled to six days in which to complete your labors, but if you are unable to complete your work in that time, I will gladly enter an order extending your sittings."

Frankfort, Ky., April 4.—An incident occurred Tuesday which is of interest in view of the report from Indianapolis that Gov. Mount would not recognize a requisition from Democratic Gov. Beckham, of Kentucky, and the presence at the Indiana capital of ex-Secretary of State Charles Finley, for whom a warrant is out, charging complicity in the Goebel case. A requisition made by Gov. Mount on the "governor of Kentucky" for the return to Indiana of Rudolph Gossman, a prisoner in the penitentiary here, whose term expires Wednesday, was presented to Gov. Beckham Tuesday morning after it had been first presented at republican headquarters and honored.

The prison officials declined to recognize Taylor's order. Upon receiving the papers Gov. Beckham sent the following telegram to the Indiana executive:

Gov. James A. Mount, Indianapolis, Ind.—A requisition from you for the arrest of one Gossman, wanted in Floyd county, Indiana, has been presented to me. I will gladly honor it if you will first assure me that any requisition issued by me as governor of Kentucky upon you will also be honored. This understanding is desired because of certain expressions attributed to you in the press lately. J. C. W. BECKHAM.

The grand jury is now investigating the assassination of Goebel.

Frankfort, Ky., April 5.—The judges of the court of appeals held a full bench consultation at which the appeal from the decision from Judge Field in the contest over the offices of governor and lieutenant governor were considered. A decision is expected next Monday.

The grand jury issued subpoenas for several witnesses who will testify in regard to the Goebel assassination. Among them are Editor Pat. McDonald, Sam Rigg and Misses Hattie and Emma Scott.

The Franklin county grand jury in its investigation of the Goebel assassination has gotten no farther than the determination of the nature of Mr. Goebel's wound and the direction from which the shot came. Testimony relating to the alleged conspiracy may be reached Wednesday.

Louisville, Ky., April 5.—The likelihood of a clash between the rival state administrations before a final decision of the contest cases by the courts is believed to be small. While every move of the respective military establishments gives rise to a flood of warlike rumors, the men in control of these movements, in the interest of public order and of the causes they represent, will not allow matters to take a serious turn if they can prevent it. A decision from the court of appeals is expected within a few days, but thirty days must elapse after the decision is rendered before the mandate of the court is issued. Because of this fact and the prospective appeal to the United States supreme court if the republicans are beaten a final settlement is still far off.

Defeated in the House.
Des Moines, Ia., April 4.—The five-mile limit bill prohibiting the establishment of a saloon within five miles of any town in the state, in which was located a state educational institution, which passed the senate, was defeated in the house Tuesday.

Reported Lynching.
Savannah, Ga., April 4.—It is reported here that Allen Brooks, the Negro who assaulted Mrs. F. W. Hart, a white woman, near Bloomingdale Monday afternoon, was lynched Tuesday morning near Berryville.

NOT A BOER LEADER.

War Department Officials Do Not Believe the Story About Capt. Carl Reichmann.

Washington, April 4.—War department officials do not believe the story that comes from South Africa to the effect that Capt. Carl Reichmann, 17th infantry, was one of the leaders of the Boers at the last fight between the Boers and the English at the Bloemfontein water works. Adj. Gen. Corbin would not even discuss the possibility of the story being true.

Reichmann's brother officers, men who knew him well, say that it is very probable that Reichmann occupied some conspicuous point of vantage from which to view the fight, and his discovery in uniform by the British was the basis for the assumption that he was one of the Boer leaders. Reichmann was selected by Gen. Miles personally to accompany the Boer forces during the war as an observer for the United States army. The army was already represented on the British side by Capt. Slocum, and in the interest of military science it was deemed essential that an accurate idea should be had of the Boer method of warfare, in order that conclusions might be drawn that would be useful to the United States army.

Reichmann ranks high as a scientific soldier, having been detailed with success to observe the grand maneuvers of the German army as a representative of the United States army. His colleagues in Washington declare that the officer has too much common sense to be led into a violation of his orders in the manner described; for if he actually threw in his lot with the Boers in attacking the British, he violated the rules of war and committed a very grave offense under the army regulations.

STRIKE IN PORTO RICO.

Carpenters at Work on a Pier at San Juan Compelled by a Mob to Quit Work.

San Juan de Porto Rico, April 4.—A crowd of about 500 persons gathered at a pier under construction by the E. B. Jenks Co., of New York, intimidated the native carpenters and forced 35 of them to quit work. The present rate of wages is $1.50 for ten hours labor. The leaders of the movement demanded an eight hour day. At noon a mob of over 10,000 people assembled and attacked the St. Thomas laborers. There were 150 policemen on duty but they made no attempt to disperse the crowd and a company of infantry was called out to preserve order. The crowd was not violent beyond beating a few men.

The agitators were headed by Santiago Iglesias, late delegate to the labor convention at New York. The laborers from St. Thomas refused to return to work, being afraid of the attacks after hours. The workmen who were satisfied and were willing to work were forced out by the so-called union laborers with the result that no natives will be engaged. The company has cabled to the United States for 25 carpenters, who will arrive on the next steamer. The pier is now protected by soldiers.

PREPARING FOR WAR.

Russian Troops Are Being Mobilized and All Dispatches Are Carefully Censored.

Berlin, April 4.—The Koelnische Zeitung, a semi-official organ, publishes alarming reports regarding the busy war preparations which Russia is making on land and on sea.

The Zeitung announces that the czar will go to Moscow Wednesday to be present at a military council.

All dispatches relating to the mobilization of troops are carefully censored before they are given to the press.

Officers who have applied for leave of absence have been informed that all such requests will be denied for the present.

Soldiers for Scavengers.

Paris, April 4.—Although it is less than a fortnight from the day of the opening of the exposition the grounds are covered with fragments of wood-work, stones and other rubbish and the authorities have lighted upon a novel scavenging scheme. The minister of war is to send 10,000 soldiers who are being drilled for the purpose to sweep like an army through the grounds and buildings April 12, for the purpose of clearing up all the debris.

Fitzsimmons and Rublin to Fight.
New York, April 4.—Bob Fitzsimmons and Gus Rublin were matched to fight 25 rounds on a date to be selected later. Both men deposited a $1,000 forfeit. The fight will take place before the West Chester Athletic club.

FIFTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

First Session.

Washington, March 29.—Senate—A direct vote was taken on the proposition to strike from the Porto Rican measure the provision levying 15 per cent of the duty on the law duties on Porto Rican products. The proposition was defeated by a vote of 18 to 2. While the vote is regarded as pre-empting the passage of the measure, it is not regarded as indicating the final vote on the bill. The bill was under discussion throughout the entire session, several important amendments being agreed to.

House—After four days of a stormy debate the house passed the army appropriation bill. One of the last amendments adopted opens soldiers' homes to the officers and men of volunteer and regular armies incorporated during or since the Spanish war. The contested election case of White vs. Borein, from the 11th Kentucky district, settled in favor of Mr. Borein. Both the contestant and contestee are republicans.

Washington, March 30.—Senate—A bill was passed for the relief of the heirs of Lawrence D. Bailey, ratifying an appropriation by the legislature of Oklahoma out of the Merrell fund for the use of the University of Langston for colored students. Considerable progress was made with the Porto Rican measure during the day, most of the committee amendments and several offered by senators being disposed of.

House—The day was devoted to war claims, but only three bills were passed as follows: To refer the claims of Geo. W. Lawrence (involving $17,000) in connection with the construction of the monitor Wasp to the court of claims; to refer the claim of Hiram Johnson and others for cotton burned in East Tennessee by the Confederate forces to the court of claims; and to pay Mathias Pederson, of Spring Valley, Wis., $300.

Washington, March 31.—Senate—The entire time of the session was taken up in discussing the Porto Rican bill, the feature being an exhaustive speech by Mr. Fairbanks, of Indiana, who vigorously supported the pending measure.

House—The fortification appropriation bill was passed just as it came from the committee. It carries $2,063,888. A resolution was adopted to re-elect the present board of managers of the national soldiers' home. A three hours' political debate was precipitated by a general political speech made by Mr. Shattuck, of Ohio, many members of both sides being drawn into it.

Washington, April 2.—Senate—Advocates and opponents of the Porto Rican tariff and government bill waged vigorous war in the senate for more than seven hours. Long before the senate convened at 11 o'clock the galleries were crowded and so they remained until the senate adjourned. Those who listened to the debate were well repaid. The speeches were good and the running debate unusually bright and lively.

House—A possible reduction of the war tax was foreshadowed in a resolution adopted by the house calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to the probable surplus existing under the present law and the coming fiscal year. The resolution was presented by Mr. Payne, the floor leader of the majority. Under suspension of the rules the senate adjourned open to settlement 116,000 acres in the Ft. Hall Indian reservation and 2,500,000 acres in Oklahoma by the agreement with the Bannock and Shoshone Indians and the Kiowa, Comanche and Apache; to divide the northern judicial district of New York into two districts and to appropriate $100,000 for a military post at Sheridan, Wyo.

Washington, April 3.—Senate—After a session lasting from 11 o'clock until 4 which was taken up entirely in debating the Porto Rican tariff and civil government bill it was passed by a vote of 40 to 21.

House—The house entered upon consideration of the substitute for the senate Hawaiian territory bill under special order which will bring the question to a vote on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The debate on the Hawaiian bill will continue on Thursday and Friday, and only three of the six speeches were pertinent to the bill.

Washington, April 4.—Senate—At the conclusion of morning business the chair laid before the senate the resolution declaring that Hon. M. S. Quay was not entitled to a seat in the senate from Pennsylvania. There was no further action on the Quay case. After an hour's debate the case went over. The Alaskan bill was then taken up and adjournment until adjournment, no action being taken.

House—Without preliminary business, the house resumed the consideration of the bill to establish a territorial government in Hawaii. Mr. McDowell, of Ohio, a member of the committee of territories, was the chief speaker. Mr. McDowell was speaking the clerk of the senate appeared, and announced the passage of the Porto Rican tariff bill "with sundry amendments in which the concurrence of the house is requested." There was no demonstration when the announcement was made. The bill was immediately referred under the rule. The Hawaiian bill occupied the entire time of the session.

FAMOUS HAMILTON TREES.

Bill Passes the New York Legislature to Purchase a Portion of the Alex. Hamilton Estate.

New York, April 5.—Both houses of the legislature have passed a bill providing for the purchase of a portion of the Alexander Hamilton estate, on St. Nicholas Heights, in this city, in order to preserve the famous Hamilton trees. George Washington at Mount Vernon gave to Alexander Hamilton 13 tiny sweet gum trees, to be planted on Hamilton's farm on Manhattan Island in memory of the 13 colonies. The tree were brought to New York in Hamilton's carriage when he drove home from Virginia. They were planted and grew, but the space given was then too small, and the trees crowded one another. With in the past few years most of the trees have died, and those that survive are not healthy. Last year the land on which they stood, at Coxsack avenue and 142nd street, was sold, and the purchaser announced his intention of cutting down the trees to make room for a house. This roused a protest which influenced the legislature. The Grange, in which Hamilton died, after the duel with Burr, has been preserved, having been purchased by a church. The building will be removed to the ground near the trees.

Transport Sheridan Arrives.

Washington, April 5.—The transport Sheridan, which has just arrived at San Francisco from Manila, brought several officers as passengers, 109 military convicts, 11 insane soldiers, 90 discharged soldiers and 100 sick soldiers. Private William H. Merritt, Company E, 4th cavalry, died at sea. The remains of 72 deceased soldiers were also aboard.

Dewey's Collection of Trophies.

Washington, April 4.—Adm. Dewey has decided to deposit his entire collection of trophies in the National museum, including the sword presented to him by congress and the great loving cup procured by popular subscription.

Buying Railway Stock.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 4.—The Carnegie company has purchased 10,000 shares of the Pittsburgh, Des Moines & Lake Erie railroad from Col. Samuel B. Dick, chairman of the road, for a sum said to range close to $400,000.

A MOTHER'S STORY.

Tells About Her Daughter's Illness and How She was Relieved—Two Letters to Mrs. Pinkham.

"Mrs. PINKHAM:—I write to tell you about my daughter. She is nineteen years old and is flowing all the time, and has been for about three months. The doctor does her but very little good, if any. I thought I would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I want your advice before beginning its use. I have become very much alarmed about her, as she is getting so weak."—Mrs. MATILDA A. CAMP, Manchester Mill, Macon, Ga., May 21, 1899.

"DEAR Mrs. PINKHAM:—It affords me great pleasure to tell you of the benefit my daughter has received from the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After beginning the use of your medicine she began to mend rapidly and is now able to be at her work. Her menses are regular and almost painless. I feel very thankful to you and expect to always keep your Vegetable Compound in my house. It is the best medicine I ever knew. You have my permission to publish this letter if you wish, it may be the means of doing others good."—Mrs. MATILDA A. CAMP, Manchester Mill, Macon, Ga., September 18, 1899.

HE WAS AGREEABLE.

Would Let the Old Uncle Shoot if He Found Him in Such a Position.

This young fellow is engaged to a pretty Detroit girl, but they don't care to publish the bans until after Lent. This disturbs an irascible old uncle of hers, who has a daughter of his own, too much after his own style to be a favorite. He took it upon himself to send for the young man the other day. "Are you going to marry that niece of mine?" he asked, sternly, when they were alone in the inner office. "Pardon me, sir, but I must decline to answer. She has a father and a mother, and I'm on good terms with them. I fail to see that it is your affair." "There's a whole lot that you fail to see, young man. I'm really the head of our family, and I'll not shrink my duty. Her parents are a couple of chumps. Are you or are you not engaged?" "You force me to say, sir, that it is none of your infernal business and that you are just what I heard you were, a sour, cross-grained old curmudgeon."

"See here, sonny, I'll not bandy words with the likes of you, but if you had been going with my daughter as long as you have my niece, I wouldn't do a thing but put a revolver to your head, informing you that if you didn't marry her I'd shoot you."

"And I'd beg of you to shoot."—Detroit Free Press.

WHAT THEY REALLY SAY.

Husband and Wife at the Theater Who Appear to Be Engaged in Conversation.

A man and wife enter the theater. As soon as they are seated and she digs around for the hat pins and removes her hat they look at each other smilingly and seem, to one's ears, to be carrying on an animated conversation. Here's what they're really saying:

Husband—Your hair's crushed and plastered down in front like a dago barber's. Can't you give it a swipe that'll—

Wife—Unreasonable thing! How can you expect me to have my hair all fluffy and nice as soon as I take off a heavy treader hat that comes down over my—

"Well, give it a couple of dabs, anyhow. Looks now as if you'd been making a high dive off a—"

"There—now does it suit your lordliness?" "Oh, well, it isn't as dinky as it was. What's become of that—that you call it—that rat thing you got to put under your front hair awhile ago? That made it stick up some, anyhow, and—"

"The dog ate it up, and it was too warm, anyway. My, what a frightful haircut your barber gave you to-day! Makes you look like a fringed mink! Don't you think you'd better change your barber?" etc.—Washington Post.

Birds of Passage.

"No, I do not make friends as easily as I used to with my fellow-travelers," said the man who was relating European experiences. "It is not because I feel less sociably inclined, but because of the cold setback I received at Gibraltar. In the hotel office one morning I entered into conversation with an Englishman and woman who seemed to me to be the right sort. They did not meet my friendly overtures with the usual 'Oh! and an English stare. On the contrary, they seemed anxious to become acquainted with me, and soon we were chatting pleasantly. I congratulated myself upon my good fortune in falling in with such agreeable people, who were most nice enough to be Americans. We discussed Gibraltar and were just planning a sight-seeing expedition for the following day when one of the hotel waiters thrust his head in the doorway and said: 'The missus wants the both of you. My new-found friends were the maid and man servant of the duchess of Cleveland, Lord Rosebery's mother.'—Detroit Free Press.

The Ideal Man.

There is much rivalry between the various colleges as to which will produce the ideal man. By this they mean a vigorous, honest, intellectual man, who will make the world a better place. He will be a student of first consideration, for upon that depends brain and achievement. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will keep the bowels regular and the stomach healthy by curing all stomach disorders. It also prevents malaria, fever and ague. Try it.

Feminine Consistency.

Mrs. Greene—They do say that Mr. Slyder gambles. Is it true?

Mrs. Gray—I should say it was. Why, it's almost as bad as stealing. If he wins, he robs some other man; if he loses, he robs his family.

"At any rate, it is terribly wicked. By the way I forgot to tell you I won the first prize at the whist tournament last night—a beautiful silver cup."

"Oh, you lucky woman! How I envy you!"—Boston Transcript.

PERUNA PROTECTS OUR HOMES.

The Roberts Family, of Falls City, Neb., Are Healthy and Happy—A Rare Sight in These Days. They Say, "We Think Peruna Is The Greatest Medicine On Earth."

No man is better known in the State of Nebraska than Mr. Carl T. Roberts, contractor and mason. A typical American—active, shrewd and full of business sagacity. He is not only a provider for his family, but a protector. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman he writes, among other things, as follows:

"Our boy, James, had the membranous croup, and repeated attacks of lung fever. Our boy, Charlie, was also subject to repeated attacks of pneumonia and pleurisy. Our third boy, John, was subject to fever and ague (malaria) and liver trouble. Your remedy, Peruna, cured my boys entirely, and now I have three of the healthiest boys in the State of Nebraska, which I attribute to your medicine. My wife had a stomach trouble which Peruna also cured. Altogether for my whole family we have used sixteen bottles of Peruna, and have thus saved $50 in doctors' bills. I am a contractor and mason by trade and am known all over Nebraska. I have had a stomach trouble which has been greatly relieved by your remedy, Peruna, for which I am still taking it. We think it is the greatest medicine on earth." C. T. Roberts, Falls City, Nebraska.

Hon. William Youngblood, Auditor for the Interior writes from Washington, D. C., to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, as follows: "I've often heard of your great medicine and have persuaded my wife, who has been much of a sufferer from catarrh, to try Peruna, and after using one bottle she has wonderfully improved. It has proved all you have claimed for it, and I take pleasure in recommending it to anyone who is afflicted with catarrh." Peruna has been in a multitude of households, absolutely indispensable.

THE FIRST BABY.

Its Coming Is Looked Forward to
With Both Joy and Fear and Its Safe Arrival Is Hailed With Pride and Delight by All.

The arrival of the first baby in the household is the happiest and most important event of married life. The young wife who is to become a mother delights to think of the happiness in store for her when the little one shall nestle upon her breast and latterly she shall hear it lisp the sweet and holy name, "mother." But her happy anticipation quickly vanishes when she realizes the terrible pain and suffering through which she must pass while bringing the little one into the world. An indescribable fear of the danger attendant upon the ordeal soon dissipates her joyfulness.

Thousands of women have learned by experience that there is absolutely no necessity for the sufferings which attend child-birth; they know that by the use of "Mother's Friend"—a scientific liniment—for a few weeks before the trying hour, expectant mothers can so prepare themselves for the final hour that the pain and suffering of the dreaded event are entirely obviated and it is safely passed through with comparatively little discomfort.

All women are interested, and especially expectant mothers who for the first time have to undergo this trial, in such a remedy; for they know the pain and suffering, to say nothing of the danger, which is in store for them. "Mother's Friend" is woman's greatest blessing, for it makes her safely through the severest ordeal of her life. Every woman should be glad to read the little book "Before Baby is Born," which contains information of great value to all. It will be sent free to any one who sends their address to The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

PERSONS who want engraved cards or invitations of any description are invited to call at THE BOURBON NEWS office and look at the very latest styles in these lines. Prices as low as Cincinnati, Louisville Philadelphia or New York houses.

Brooks.

Never Out of Season.

There is no time in the year when Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not a benefit to mankind. It cures constipation and indigestion and cures diarrhoea caused by bad condition of the digestive organs. Trial size bottle 10c, also in 50c and $1 size, at G. S. Varden & Co.'s.

CANCER Cannot be Cut Out or Removed with Plasters

Surgical operations and flesh destroying plasters are useless, painful and dangerous, and besides, never cure Cancer. No matter how often a cancerous sore is removed, another comes at or near the same point, and always in a worse form. Does not this prove conclusively that Cancer is a blood disease, and that it is folly to attempt to cure this deep-seated, dangerous blood trouble by cutting or burning out the sore, which, after all, is only an outward sign of the disease—a place of exit for the poison?

Cancer runs in families through many generations, and those whose ancestors have been afflicted with it are liable at any time to be stricken with the deadly malady.

Only Blood Diseases can be Transmitted from One Generation to Another

—further proof that Cancer is a disease of the blood. To cure a blood disease like this you must cure the entire blood system—remove every trace of the poison. Nothing cures Cancer effectually and permanently but S. S. S.

S. S. S. enters the circulation, searches out and removes all taint, and stops the formation of cancerous cells. No mere tonic or ordinary blood medicine can do this. S. S. S. goes down to the very roots of the disease, and forces out the deadly poison, allowing the sore to heal naturally and permanently. S. S. S. at the same time purifies the blood and builds up the general health.

A little pimple, a harmless looking wart or mole, a lump in the breast, a cut or bruise that refuses to heal under ordinary treatment, should all be looked upon with suspicion, as this is often the beginning of a bad form of cancer.

Mrs. Sarah M. Keeling, 64 Windsor Ave., Bristol, Tenn., writes: "I am 47 years old, and for three years had suffered with a severe form of Cancer on my jaw, which the doctors in this city said was incurable, and that I could not live more than six months. I accepted their statement as true, and had hope of ever being well again, when my druggist, knowing of my condition, recommended S. S. S. After taking a few bottles the sore began to heal, much to the surprise of the physicians, and in a short time made a complete cure. I have gained in flesh, my appetite is splendid, sleep is refreshing—in fact, an enjoying perfect health."

Our medical department is in charge of physicians of long experience, who are especially skilled in treating Cancer and other blood diseases. Write for any advice or information wanted, we make no charge whatever for this service. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY, ATLANTA, GA.

Question Answered

Y-s August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers, and grandmothers, never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries. oct-27-1y
